Adapted by award-winning writer Andrew Davies from Alan Hollinghurst's Booker Prize-winning novel

The Line of Beauty

Starring Dan Stevens, Hayley Atwell, Tim McInnerny, Alice Krige, Don Gilet, Kenneth Cranham, Barbara Flynn, Alex Wyndham and Kika Markham.

A story of love, class, sex and money, The Line of Beauty crawls deep under the skin of Thatcher's Britain. Framed by the two general elections which returned the Conservative government to power, the series unfolds through four extraordinary years of change and tragedy.

Nick Guest, a young, gay Oxford graduate of modest means, is invited to stay with the wealthy Fedden family at their home in west London. Dysfunction and glamour come in equal measure with the Feddens: father Gerald, a Tory MP consumed by his rising status within the party; wife Rachel who barely recognizes her manic-depressive daughter Catherine; and son Toby, for whom Nick has had a secret crush ever since their time together at Oxford.

Drifting through this world of wealth and power, of cocaine-fuelled country house parties and political soirées, Nick becomes entranced by their powerful, privileged life. But even the comfortable world of the Feddens and their social circle has cracks running through it - cracks that will profoundly affect Nick's life.
